SHIP'S MUTINEERS FLED ON A RAFT

Three Americans Had First Shot Captain and Mate of the Leicester Castle.

ESCAPED IN THE DARKNESS.

Vessel Made Search for Them Next Day in Midocean, but Found No Trace, and Their Craft May Have Gone to Pieces.

Queenstown, Dec. 5.-The British ship Leicester Castle, from San Francisco, July S, arrived here to-day.

Her commander reported that on September 2 three American seamen mutinled, and Captain Peattie and his second officer were shot, the latter fatally, after an encounter with the mutineers, who left the ship on a raft in midocean.

Captain Peattie gave the names of the mutineers as W. A. Hobbs, Ernest Sears and Turner. They were all shipped in San Francisco, The second officer, Mr. Nixon, was shot while attempting to rescue the

In the darkness the mutineers got a few planks and coops, formed a raft and launched it from the ship, which was then about 300 miles north of Pitcairn Island. The captain searched for the raft the next day, but it was not sighted, and it was surmised that it went to pleces, Captain Pentile added that Hobbs was the actual murderer of Mr. Nixon, whom he shot through the heart. The captain himself was shot twice, but had quite recovered when he arrived here.

When the chief officer discovered that the three men had mutinied, he mustered the three men had mutinied, he mustered the rest of the crew on the poop, intending to await daylight and capture the mutineers, but the latter escaped in the interim.

The captain is anable to account for the mutiny. He supposed it was the intention of the mutineers to murder the officers and the men who refused to join them and take the ship to Pitcairn Island.

It is said that Hobbs came from Illinois, Scars from Idaho, and James Turner from Portland. Ore. The mutineers took a week's provisions with them on the raft.

Asylum at Nevada.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Nevada, Mo., Dec. 5.—Bruce Looney, a contractor of this city, was killed by falling from a swinging scaffold while working at the State Asylum in this city. One of the ropes suddenly broke and Mr. Looney was huried to the ground fifty feet below and was instantly killed, his neck being broken, as were his legs and back.

The scaffold had been used every day and the ropes were thought to have been in good condition.

Mr. Looney was a member of the Masonic, Ben Hur and Ancient Order of Pyramids.

Frank Reed, who was also on the scaffold, escaped death by jumping to and grasping hold of the iron bars of a window. He then let himself down by a heavy rope. on the eight-hour bill, which passed the House last session.

The Government contractors opposed to the passage of the measure were represented by Judge Joseph K. McCammon, representing the Cramps, Carnegie and Bethlehem steel works; A. B. Farquhar of York, Pa.; Somerfield Baldwin of Baltimore, and Millard F. Bowen of Buffalo, members of the National Association of Manufacturers, Frank Morrison, secretary of the National Federation of Labor, and James O'Connell, president of the Mechanics' National Association, booked after the interests of the laboring peopie.

During the hegring quite a flurry of excitement was caused in the committee by Mr. Baldwin's denunciation of some of the methods employed by labor leaders, sharp answers being made by Messis. O'Connell answers being made by Messrs. O'Conn'll and Morrison.

Mr. Baldwin said he objected to having the labor leaders say that his son or his employes shall work only a certain number of hours a day. He added that he thought the bill was simply another step toward forcing a universal eight-hour law on the manufacturers, and that if it passes will affect all interests, except possibly those of the farmers.

farmers, Mr. Farguhar said that he believed that Mr. Farquhar said that he believed that the labor leaders were the only people in the country who were taking an active interest in the passage of the bill, in which movement they were not supported by the laboring classes as a whole by any means. He said the decreasing was scale in England was due to the activity of labor leaders and their antagonism to improved machinery.

Senator McComas, a member of the committee, remarked that a great many Congressiven were opposed to the bill because they did not understand it. He said they claim it is extreme and revolutionary, but that in his online it is not, for the reason that the eight-hour day is the ultimate ideal that the laboring classes hope to reach.
